The Estate

Ca dei Maghi is a small farm in the hills of Valpolicella making very small quantities of the most exquisite wines. Although started in the 1950's it is only since 2011 when Paolo Creazzi took over the reins that this estate has gone from being 'good' to outstanding. Each year he seeks to express classical Valpolicella at its very best while his natural inclination to experiment and try new things is shown in the small range of IGT wines produced.

Winemaking

The grapes are harvested by hand in the second decade of October. Fermentation and ageing take place in steel tanks.

Tasting Note and Food Pairing

Brilliant ruby colour. Intense flavour with hints of marasca cherry, raspberry and small wild strawberry. Harmonious, fresh, sapid and dry in the mouth with a typical aftertaste of cherry. Young wine which can accompany the whole meal. It combines very good with sliced meat, soft cheese and white meat.
