Producer Details

Pierre Chainier source classic Loire varietal wines as well as owning some excellent properties throughout the region. For both elements of their wine business, they look to principles of agriculture raisonne alongside the most modern wine-making techniques. Clos de Nouys is a 25 acre estate within the Vouvray appellation, one of the oldest in the AOC with vines averaging 35 years old. Its parcels of vines were already listed amongst the best sites on geological maps dating from 1907.

In The Vineyard

Sourced from classic Loire varietals, Grolleau and Gamay grown on very typical terroirs of clay and sand (silica).

In The Winery

The wine is clarified and fermented in temperature controlled stainless steel tanks. The wine is fined and filtered, before being bottled in March.
